

National Farm Attractions Network News Release

The National Farm Attractions Network (NFAN) are delighted to announce the 2007 Farm Attraction's of the Year.

With continued support from both NFAN Members and non-members the awards have again been a great success, with over 50 entries across the 3 categories. Judging has taken place during the busy summer/Autumn months with anonymous visits made to the short-listed attractions.

Category A, (Over 75,000 visitors per year) winner Fishers Farm Park, West Sussex

Left to right, Tom Rollings, Sarah Althorpe (NFAN), Tim Rollings, Sandra Palmer (Farmer Palmers) & David Sanvoison (LIW)

2007 Runners Up:

Willows Farm Village, St Albans, Hertfordshire

The White Post Farm Centre, Farnsfield, Nottinghamshire

Category B, (20,000 to 75,000 visitors per year) winner Stockley Farm, Cheshire

Left to right, John Casson, Susan Williams, Nicki Ryan, Barry Davies (Davies & Co.), Sarah Althorpe (NFAN), John Walton, Jane Docksey and Jill Walton.

2007 Runners Up:

Dick Whittington Farm Park, Longhope, Gloucestershire
Barleyland Centre & Craft Village, Essex

Category C (Under 20,000 visitors per year) winner Playdale Farm Park, North Yorkshire

From left to right, Mark Wilson, Jackie Wilson & Peter Thompson (Chairman NFAN)

2007 Runners Up:

Hall Farm Park, Market Rasen, Lincolnshire

Domestic Fowl Trust, Evesham, Worcestershire

Notes for editors: The National Farm Attractions Network (NFAN) is a unique co-operative organisation that provides professional assistance and support to Farm and Rural Diversification Enterprises. The NFAN recognises the importance of high quality farm and rural tourism businesses and launched the Jim Keetch Farm Attraction of the Year Award, now in its fifth year, the awards have gone from strength to strength. For further details on the NFAN and the Jim Keetch Awards please contact Sarah Althorpe on 01536 513397.