CONFERENCE IS A TITANIC SUCCESS

Farm and rural attractions from around the UK gathered at the Titanic Hotel in Liverpool from 2 to 4 February, for the annual National Farm Attractions Network (NFAN) conference, exhibition and awards, celebrating the best in farm parks and countryside attractions.

Delegates at the conference heard from Sharon Orrell head of research and insights at Visit England on how the farm attractions sector as a whole is a winner, having outperformed all other attraction types over the last decade with the biggest reported growth in visitors. Tony Sefton from Vision XS focused on the importance of investment to drive growth.

Colin Evans, NFAN chairman said, "This year's annual conference and trade exhibition has been the biggest in the association's 20-year history. During a visit to the Ice Cream Farm in Cheshire as part of the conference we saw at first-hand the spectacular new £5 million redevelopment which is just one example of investments taking place at farm attractions around the country, offering visitors new experiences and creating jobs."

Investment and growth was a key theme for the event. There was also a lively debate on ratings valuation sparked by presentations by Wayne Cox, Govt Valuation Office and Tom Dixon, Independent Rating Surveyor. This is certainly an issue that will remain at the top of the agenda for the next year or so.

Opportunities in the schools' market were discussed by Gary Richardson, Countryside Learning, followed by presentations from Walby Farm Park, Cumbria and Stockley Farm Park, Cheshire regarding their experiences of the education sector.

The NFAN annual awards dinner was sponsored by Lappset Creative with wine sponsored by Timberplay. Liverpool Radio City presenter Rossie hosted the award ceremony. The Winner of the Large Farm Attraction of the Year (over 75,000 visitors pa) was Cannon Hall Farm near Barnsley, South Yorkshire. The winner of the small Farm Attraction of the Year (under 75,000 visitors pa) went to Cantref Adventure Farm in Brecon, South Wales. See the full list on page 3.

NFAN would like to thank gold conference sponsors: S. Gregory & Co, Marsh & Company and Davies & Co; drinks reception sponsors: Innovative Leisure and DigiTickets as well as the award category sponsors.

Conference presentations can be downloaded from www.farmattractions.net.

Best show we have done this year. Great value and fantastic organisers, they helped keep us informed in every way and made us feel part of the NFAN family.

Innovative Leisure scooped the NFAN Best Trade Supplier award for the contribution it has made by helping farm attractions gain more visitors and grow their businesses.

Phil Pickersgill, managing director of Innovative Leisure which also won the award in 2014 said: "We are delighted to have won this award for a second time in just a few years. We have built up some excellent relationships with farm park operators in the past 10 years and work very closely with many NFAN members to provide them with the right attractions for their target markets."

NFAN chairman Colin Evans said: "Trade members are an integral part of the NFAN family. A good, supportive supplier is a key part of the success of a farm attraction, and our members regularly recommend suppliers to each other. The Best Trade Supplier award recognises the important role our trade members play and is the only award judged by the Farm Operating Members of the NFAN Committee."

The judges praised Innovative Leisure for being truly innovative. Over the last decade they have worked with the industry to bring new attractions to UK farm parks, including a Traversing Wall (pictured) at Walby Farm Park, Sky Tykes Ropes Courses at Mead Open Farm and Downpour Derby at Crealy, Cornwall.

Lifetime Achievement Award for Joe Henson

There was a standing ovation as the late Joe Henson from Cotswold Farm Park was named recipient of the Lifetime Achievement Award at the annual awards dinner.

A short BBC Countryfile tribute piece was played to the room and his son, Countryfile presenter Adam Henson, paid a touching tribute to his late father in a video message saying: "As many of you know my dear father Joe Henson passed away in October 2015, but before he died he was aware and absolutely delighted that he'd received the National Farm Attractions Network Lifetime Achievement Award. The Cotswold Farm Park was the first of its kind in the country and I know that dad was very proud that there are now hundreds of open farms all over the country educating the general public."

Congratulations to Adam Henson and the BBC Countryfile team, who won the Outstanding Contribution to Tourism award at the recent VisitEngland Awards for Excellence. Countryfile was recognised for the fantastic job it does in showcasing the beauty and diversity of the British countryside which promotes rural tourism.
